

Knowledge Translation During COVID-19 Times: The Experience of Art Engagement

Barbara Groot

Leyden Academy on Vitality and Aging & Leiden University Medical Centre
Department Public Health and Primary Care, Leiden, the Netherlands
groot@leydenacademy.nl

Janine Schrijver

Stichting B.a.d., Rotterdam, the Netherlands
janineschrijver@xs4all.nl

Lieke de Kock

Leyden Academy on Vitality and Aging & Leiden University Medical Centre
Department Public Health and Primary Care, Leiden, the Netherlands
kock@leydenacademy.nl

Tineke Abma

Leyden Academy on Vitality and Aging & Leiden University Medical Centre
Department Public Health and Primary Care, Leiden, the Netherlands
abma@leydenacademy.nl

Abstract

Knowledge dissemination in COVID-19 times was challenging: how could we disseminate the results in a multisensory way? This video shows our approach: an online event with meditation, theatre, interactive photo exhibition, and a presentation. However, is this still science in the eyes of our stakeholders?

Keywords: Multisensory, Participatory Arts-Based Research, Older People, Participatory Art, Narrative

Link to Film:

<https://vimeo.com/662004581>