

Canadian Studies in Population

Official Journal of the Canadian Population Society

Editor

Frank Trovato, University of Alberta

Assistant to the Editor

Wendy Aujla, University of Alberta

Vol. 42, No. 1–2 (Spring/Summer) 2015

Population Research Laboratory, University of Alberta

© 2015 by the Canadian Population Society and the Population
Research Laboratory, University of Alberta, Edmonton
All rights reserved. Published 2015

ISSN 0380-1489

Frank Trovato, Editor
Wendy Auja, Assistant Editor

Canadian Studies in Population (CSP) is indexed in the Web of Science, the largest and most comprehensive citation index available. All articles published in CSP since 2009 are indexed and abstracted in the Social Sciences Citation Index, Journal Citation Reports/Social Sciences Edition, and in Current Contents/Social and Behavioral Sciences.

To all subscribers and members of the Canadian Population Society

Articles published in the Canadian Studies of Population journal are available online at <http://web.uvic.ca/~canpop/journal/>.

Canadian Studies in Population was founded by Dr. P. Krishnan, Professor Emeritus at the University of Alberta, and is published with the financial support of the Society of Edmonton Demographers, Population Research Laboratory, Canadian Population Society, and the Department of Sociology, University of Alberta.

Funding for Canadian Studies in Population is provided by the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada (SSHRC).

Contents

- 1–12     Inability to conceive and treatment-seeking behaviour in Uttar Pradesh state in India
Brijesh P. Singh and Upasana Shukla
- 13–34   Measuring race and ethnicity in the censuses of Australia, Canada, and the United States: Parallels and paradoxes
Gillian Stevens, Hiromi Ishizawa, and Douglas Grbic
- 35–52   Family planning and women's educational advancement in Tehran, Iran
5a lf'9fZBj
- 53–80   Demography of a man-made human catastrophe: The case of massive famine in Ukraine 1932–1933
*Ca YJbFi Xng nžB Uu]U@yW_žC`YK cđkmlZDj`cGyW_ž
..... Ux5`U?gVgi_`*
- 81–101   Disentangling the Quebec fertility paradox: The recent evolution of fertility within marriage and consensual union in Quebec and Ontario
Benoît Laplante
- 102–116   Back to the future: A review of forty years of population projections at Statistics Canada
Patrice Dion and Nora Galbraith
- 117–129   The probabilistic life table and its applications to Canada
Nan Li
- 130–148   A parametric model for estimating nuptiality patterns in modern populations
Paraskevi Peristera and Anastasia Kostaki
- 149     Book reviews

Wayne McVey, Jr. (1932–2015)

I am sorry to inform you that Dr. Wayne W. McVey, Jr., died in Oregon on Monday, May 18, 2015.

Dr. McVey was born in 1932 in Olympia, Washington. He earned a masters degree in Sociology from the University of Washington in 1965. That same year, he came to the University of Alberta to assist in the creation of the Population Research Laboratory in the Department of Sociology, and to pursue doctoral studies in demography. (The Department of Sociology had been established just a few years earlier, in 1961.) Dr. McVey served in 1966–1972 as the first Director of the Population Research Laboratory, and as a Professional Officer in the Department in 1967–1974. In 1974, he received his PhD and was hired as an associate professor by the Department of Sociology at the University of Alberta. He was promoted to full professor in 1982. He served as Associate Chair Graduate in 1981–1984. In 1971, Dr. McVey co-authored the first university text on Canadian population, The Demographic Bases of Canadian Society. A second edition followed in 1979. His attention to detail resulted in immaculate, elegant demographic charts and figures. In 1974 the journal Canadian Studies in Population was founded in the Department of Sociology at the University of Alberta. Dr. McVey served subsequently as Editor and continued to support this journal for many years. It continues today as the only English-language demography journal in Canada. Dr. McVey was President of the Canadian Population Society in 1996–1998. Dr. McVey retired in 1998 and continued to support the demography program at the University of Alberta for years following his retirement. He was President (2000–2006) and Honorary Advisor (2007–2015) of the Society of Edmonton Demographers. The Department recognizes his legacy through the Wayne McVey Population Research Graduate Scholarship for MA Students endowed by the Society of Edmonton Demographers who created the Alberta Endowment Fund for Demographic Research at the University of Alberta.

All who knew, worked, and studied with Dr. McVey loved him. He was a great colleague, teacher, mentor, and friend. He is remembered for his good-natured sunny disposition and sense of humour. He made life in the Department better for all. He is missed.

Herbert C. Northcott
Professor and Interim Chair
Department of Sociology
University of Alberta
May 20, 2015

---

Wayne McVey, Jr. (1932–2015)

Wayne McVey served as Editor-in-Chief of Canadian Studies in Population during 1990–1992 and 1994–2007. I had the good fortune of occupying an office at the University of Alberta just a few doors from Wayne. I hold fond memories of the many conversations we had over the years, spanning a wide array of subjects, from how to be a more effective teacher to the latest theory in sociological demography. He was a remarkable colleague, a loyal friend, and a constant source of inspiration to all those that knew him. I shall miss his wise counsel and calming influence.

Frank Trovato
Editor, Canadian Studies in Population
Department of Sociology
University of Alberta
May 20, 2015