

News

4th International Conference on Evidence Based Library and Information Practice

© 2006 EBLIP. This is an Open Access article distributed under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution License (<http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/2.0>), which permits unrestricted use, distribution, and reproduction in any medium, provided the original work is properly cited.

The University of North Carolina will host the 4th International Conference on Evidence Based Library and Information Practice on May 6-9, 2007, in Chapel Hill, NC. The conference will be followed by two days of continuing education.

Topics to be addressed include building the knowledge base of the profession, various roles in promoting evidence based practice, setting evidence based practice standards, and key practice areas requiring systematic review of evidence. Workshops include how to apply the evidence based model of practice in different settings and how to assess library literature.

Further information, including the official press release, is available on the conference Web site at: <http://www.eblip4.unc.edu/>