

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

The review process is essential to the quality of this journal. We thank the following people who reviewed manuscripts in 1985. Their thoughtful critiques contribute to the advancement of human science research and pedagogic praxis.

Michael Apple, University of Wisconsin; Bruce Bain, University of Alberta; Lorne Barrit, University of Michigan; Ton Beekman, Rijksuniversiteit Utrecht; Vangie Bergum, University of Alberta; Alan Blum, York University; Verna Brophy, Edmonton; Terrance Carson, University of Alberta; David Dillon, University of Alberta; Rod Evans, University of Alberta; Mikio Fujita, University of Alberta; Amedeo Giorgi, Duquesne University; Henry Giroux, Miami University; Madeleine Grumet, Hobart and William Smith Colleges; Margaret Hunsberger, University of Calgary; John Jagodzinski, University of Alberta; David Jardine, Seneca College; Marie Laing, University of Alberta; Idrenne Lim-Alparaque, University of Alberta; Don McEachern, University of Alberta; Chizuko Maeda, University of Alberta; Glenn Martin, University of Alberta; Erwin Miklos, University of Alberta; Geoff Milburn, University of Western Ontario; Dieter Misgeld, Ontario Institute for Studies in Education; John Mitchell, University of Alberta; Raymond Morrow, University of Alberta; Leendert Mos, University of Alberta; Karel Mulderij, Rijksuniversiteit Utrecht; Robert Nichols, University of Alberta; Antoinette Oberg, University of Victoria; John Osborne, University of Alberta; Valerie Polakow, University of Michigan; Pat Rafferty, University of Alberta; Walter Samiroden, University of Alberta; W.H.O. Schmidt, University of Alberta; William Schubert, University of Illinois; Sol Sigurdson, University of Alberta; Mary Sullivan, University of Alberta; Tom Tak, Rijksuniversiteit Utrecht; Ina van Berckelaer, University of Leiden; Walter Werner, University of British Columbia; George Willis, University of Rhode Island; Olive Yonge, University of Alberta.