ARCHIVES CALL FOR PAPERS EDITORIAL BOARD CONTACT

Quis est, quod ibi homo vult dolere luctuosa et tragica, quae tamen pati ipse nollet.

Current Issue :: Volume 12 :: 2006

Articles

Divided Once More: Social Memory and the Canadian Conscription Andrew Theobald Crisis of the First World War

Andrew Theobald is a doctoral candidate in the History Department at Queen's University. His dissertation explores early United Nations peacekeeping efforts in the Middle East. His MA, completed at the University of New Brunswick in 2002, focused on the Canadian conscription crisis of the First World War.

"A Firm Referee that Will Make Both Sides Adhere by the Rules": Gentlemanly Status and Hockey Referees in Edmonton Alberta, 1893-1907

Peter Fortna

Peter Fortna is a provisional doctoral candidate in the department of History and Classics at the University alberta, his dissertation research will explore how the idea of wilderness influenced the development of the tourist community of Banff, alberta. His other research interests include sports history, environmental history, public history and post-colonial theory.

Hybrid Historiography: Pre- and Post-conquest Latin America and Perceptions of the Past

Carolyn Salomons

Carolyn Salomons is an MA student in the department of History and Classics at the University of Alberta. Her area of interest is late medieval and early modern Spain, and her MA thesis will explore the impact of the "purity of blood" statutes on Jews, Christians and Muslims in that time and space.

Aurelian's Bellum Monetariorum: An Examination

Charles Patrick MacMillan Conway

 $Charles\ Patrick\ MacMillan\ Conway\ is\ a\ provisional\ doctoral\ candidate\ in\ the\ Department\ of\ History\ and\ Classics\ at\ the\ University\ of\ Alberta.$

The Molding of the Rising Generation: Soviet Propaganda and the Hero-Myth of Iurii Gagarin

Trevor Rockwell

Trevor Rockwell is a provisional doctoral candidate in the Department of History & Classics at the University of Alberta. Although he received his BA and MA in History at the University of Victoria, he has spent most of his life in the Edmonton area. His MA project examined official Soviet narratives of the first man in space. Intil Gagarin. His PhD dissertation will compare official Soviet and American discourses of outer space exploration.

Stumbling Towards War: The Soviet Decision to Invade Afghanistan

Matt W. Wolf

Matt W. Wolf is an undergraduate student of both history and political science at the University of Alberta, with specific interest in strategic studies. He is currently working for the Honourable Gordon O'Connor, Pc, MP, Minister of National Defence. The opinions expressed in this essay are the author's alone and do not necessarily represent the views of the Minister of National Defence, the Department of National Defence, or the Government of Canada.

Papers presented at the Medieval and Early Modern Institute's 3rd Annual Graduate Student Colloquium

Inner Sanctums, Outer Spaces

The Relationship Between Ritual and Space at the Neonian Baptistery of Ravenna

Jessica Weiss recently completed her M.A. degree in the Department of Art History at Southern Methodist University of Dallas, Texas, United States. Her M.A. thesis examined the role of an immigrant painter in the development of the late medieval style of Valencia, Spain.

The Flesh Made Word: Margery Kempe's Experiential Feminine

Shawna Geissler

Shawna Geissler is a doctoral candidate in English at the University of Regina and a lecturer at Campion College. Her dissertation will examine representations of women's breasts in British Renaissance

Winning Paper from the 5th Annual History and Classics Graduate student Conference

Controversy: Within History and Classics

(Non refereed publication)

Sic Semper Fidelis and Tempus Fugit: American Military Nationalism and the European Theatre of the Second World War

Chris A. Sinal

Christopher A. Sinal is conducting Masters research on controversialist historical thought in seventeenth century England at the University of Alberta. Additionally, he is Senior Research Coordinator for an interdisciplinary research group at The University of Western Otation investigating the application of statistical methodology and social network analysis to historical problems using relational databases. His interests include historical memory and theory within ryth century England, as well as the evolution of nationalist thought

Book Reviews

Book Forum on Kerry Abel, Drum Songs: Glimpses of Dene History. Second edition. Montreal & Kingston: McGill-Queen's Press, 2005.

Christopher A.J.L. Little Matt Dyce Sadie Donovan Kerry Abel

Robert Nemes. The Once and Future Budapest. Dekalb: Northern Eva Bodnar Illinois University Press, 2005.

 $\textit{Past Imperfect} \text{ is the journal of the History and Classics Graduate Students'} Association (HCGSA) \text{ at the University of Alberta. Edited by students and funded by the properties of th$

America History and Life and Historical Abstracts.

 $\textit{Past Imperfect} \text{ publishes articles on any topic in History or Classics submitted by active graduate students. All submissions are referred by two or more scholars with the properties of the properties of$ relevant expertise.